University of MOUNT OLIVE

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF MOUNT OLIVE

The University of Mount Olive has become one of the most unique and fastest growing private educational institutions in North Carolina. In its traditional program, the University of Mount Olive offers more than 40 majors. The average class size at UMO is less than 25, so every student has the opportunity to get personal attention.

Students also have the opportunity to compete on 20 highly competitive NCAA Division II intercollegiate athletics teams. In 2008, the baseball team won the NCAA Division II Baseball Championship.

In addition to programs for recent high school graduates and college transfers, UMO also offers one-night-a-week baccalaureate and associate degree programs for adult students. These programs are offered at University of Mount Olive locations in Mount Olive, New Bern, Wilmington, Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, Research Triangle Park, Washington and Jacksonville and in Smithfield at Johnston Community College. The university also offers online programs, including the RN to BSN program, criminal justice and criminology, and the master of business administration degree.

LEE DUNNAM

POSITION:

Outfielder

MAJOR: Building construction

WORLD SERIES

HIGHLIGHT: "The state championship in Florida was harder to get out of than the regional tournament. We played Coral Springs (Florida), and once we got past them we realized, 'Wow, we can really do this.' The World Series was probably the best baseball experience I've had yet to date."

KYLE HAMNER

POSITION: Catcher

MAJOR: Sports management

WORLD SERIES

HIGHLIGHT: "During one of our first games, I was catching and there was a man on third, and our pitcher threw the ball off the backstop. I got the ball, and we were able to get the kid out at home. There was a momentum change in the game. We made that play, and we did really well after that."

MICHAEL TOMLINSON

POSITION: Third baseman

MAJOR: Building construction

WORLD SERIES

HIGHLIGHT: For Tomlinson, the games in South Williamsport, Pennsylvania, exposed him to new cultures. All the teams lived in two-story dorms, and the Florida boys hung out with Hawaiians, who shared a bathroom with a Russian team. "I was really close with the Japanese guys," he added.

Little LEAGUE, big REUNION

Three college baseball players are teammates again a decade after competing in the Little League World Series

Ask three University of West Florida baseball players about their favorite baseball memories, and you might hear something about the summer of 2005. That was the year Lee Dunnam, Kyle Hamner and Michael Tomlinson donned baby blue uniforms and represented their hometown of Maitland, Florida, on the biggest stage in youth baseball: the Little League World Series.

In the years after their preteen success, the three maintained their friendships despite heated high school rivalries and early college paths that pulled them from central Florida. Tomlinson was the first to enroll at West Florida, followed a year later by the younger Hamner. This fall, Dunnam transferred from the University of South Carolina Upstate and Tomlinson returned from a redshirt season. Now the trio are once again on the same team, playing for another taste of glory.

What it means to wear a uniform.

Wearing a uniform isn't all about the colors and the shoes. It's about teamwork, leadership, dedication, and sheer drive. All stitched together to create something bigger than yourself. Every day, we wear ours with pride. Thank you for doing the same.

The Value of College Sports

Nearly 1,100 colleges and universities collectively invest in the experiences of student-athletes. Each year, more than 460,000 NCAA student-athletes gain skills to succeed on the field, in the classroom and for life.

Graduating from college is as important as winning on the playing field.

More than eight out of 10 student-athletes will earn bachelor's degrees.

Graduation rates for student-athletes as a group are higher than for their peers in the student body.

NCAA sports give young people opportunities to learn, compete and succeed.

NCAA schools award more than $2.7 billion in athletic scholarships every year to more than 150,000 student-athletes.

More men and women are competing in college sports than ever before.

The NCAA promotes the well-being of student-athletes.

The NCAA Student Assistance Fund has distributed more than $300 million during the past five years to help student-athletes with essential needs.

The NCAA's Sport Science Institute promotes safety, excellence and wellness in student-athletes, fostering life-long physical, mental and emotional development.

— From the desk of — MARK EMMERT — NCAA PRESIDENT —

We gather today from different backgrounds and regions of the country to cheer for our favorite teams and celebrate our alma maters. But let's not forget why we're really cheering. College sports, our iconic and treasured American pastimes, are so much more than what you'll see in these championship events.

This year, more than 54,000 student-athletes will compete in an NCAA national championship and share with their teammates a unique sense of joy and accomplishment. But I've seen time and time again how the student-athletes who are succeeding at the highest level of sports competition are also achieving impressive academic success and giving back to their communities. One of them at the final site of this very championship will be honored as the sport's champion student because he or she holds the highest grade point average among the event's competitors. The Elite 89 award honors their achievement because it represents everything for which the NCAA stands.

Athletics plays an essential role in those accomplishments: student-athletes consistently tell me their love for their sport is what drives them to succeed. Ultimately, it's the success they experience not only on the field, but in the classroom and in life that makes these championships so meaningful. It's a chance for us all to stand and cheer on the next generation of leaders and innovators who will ultimately drive progress in our communities. It is why the commitment to higher education is a value we all share. And when we cheer for them at these events, we're really celebrating the hard work, determination and perseverance that helped them ace the test — in their sport and in their studies.

A lucky few will hoist a trophy in the air when events like this one are finished, and they will hear the cheers of their elated fans. Just remember that along the path to those 89 moments, more than 19,000 teams will share in a meaningful journey they will carry with them for the rest of their lives.

I'm glad you're here to celebrate one of those moments of student-athlete success. Enjoy the championship.

Athletics plays an ESSENTIAL ROLE in those accomplishments: student-athletes consistently tell me their LOVE FOR THEIR SPORT IS WHAT DRIVES THEM TO SUCCEED. Ultimately, it's the SUCCESS they experience not only on the field, but in the CLASSROOM and in LIFE that makes these championships so meaningful.
