LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

Co-host of the 2015 NCAA Division III Baseball Championship

ABOUT LAWRENCE

Lawrence University is a deliberately small residential college of liberal arts and sciences and a nationally recognized conservatory of music devoted exclusively to undergraduate education.

Founded in 1847, Lawrence is a community of 1,500 intellectually curious students who bring a diversity of experience and thought from nearly every state and 50 countries. The energy and passion for learning is palpable from the classroom to the dorm room and throughout the campus.

Lawrence is devoted to individualized learning, our most unique and defining attribute. Individualized learning is an academic commitment characterized by professor/mentors whose foremost motivation is teaching and a rigorous curriculum designed to create the opportunity for every student to be educated as a unique individual. That's why nearly two-thirds of all courses have the optimal student-teacher ratio of 1-to-1. Moreover, Lawrence is among only 19 colleges in the United States with overall student-faculty ratios less than 9-to-1. Individualized learning helps transform our students into critical thinkers, articulate writers and collaborative problem-solvers who are prepared for success in a rapidly changing world.

According to a study by the National Science Foundation, Lawrence ranks in the top 14 nationally among baccalaureate institutions in its percentage of graduates who go on to earn doctorate degrees.

Including all institutions, Lawrence ranks 28th nationally based on institutional-yield ratio, just behind Johns Hopkins University and tied with Duke University.

Lawrence is located adjacent to downtown Appleton, a surprisingly vibrant community of 72,000 in which the town and the college benefit from one another. Located on a bluff overlooking the Fox River, Lawrence is known for its friendly, open campus, its multi-interest students and the variety of musical, artistic, athletics and scholarly activities that students, faculty, staff and local residents readily embrace.

THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN OSHKOSH

ABOUT WISCONSIN-OSHKOSH

The University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh is where excellence and opportunity meet. With more than 14,500 students, UW-Oshkosh is the third-largest university in the state of Wisconsin. Sixty undergraduate majors, more than 100 minors, 15 graduate programs and one doctoral program make UW-Oshkosh a great place to grow, learn to lead and succeed.

UW-Oshkosh's 21 athletics teams are affiliated with the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. The school's athletics program owns 46 national titles, including 31 in NCAA Division III competition.

The university is centrally located in a community of more than 66,500 people along the Fox River and near downtown Oshkosh. As a community, Oshkosh is host to more than 1,000 events each year, including many on campus.

What it means to wear a uniform.

Wearing a uniform isn't all about the colors and the shoes. It's about teamwork, leadership, dedication, and sheer drive. All stitched together to create something bigger than yourself. Every day, we wear ours with pride. Thank you for doing the same.

WIN EVERY ROAD GAME.

In college sports, the road brings pressures that aren't for the faint of heart. Champions find a way to win away from their friendly confines. For us at Infiniti, the road is where we're most comfortable, where we put drivers in more control. Student-athletes know there's nothing like commanding the road. So do we.

Why Play College Sports?

The advantages of competing in college sports are both immediate and lifelong.

College education. A college degree has a direct impact on a person's quality of life. A 2013 report by The College Board shows that the median lifetime earnings of bachelor's degree recipients are 65 percent higher than those of high school graduates.

Academic success. Overall, college student-athletes graduate at rates higher than their peers in the student body. And as part of the NCAA's Academic Progress Rate data collection, we know that nearly 13,000 student-athletes have returned to campuses – after finishing their athletics eligibility – to complete their degrees during the past decade.

Scholarships. More than 150,000 student-athletes receive $2.7 billion in athletics scholarships each year from NCAA member colleges and universities.

Student Assistance Fund. Division I student-athletes have access through their campus and conference offices to more than $73 million from the NCAA's Student Assistance Fund. These funds can be used in a variety of ways, from helping student-athletes fly home in the event of a family tragedy, to purchasing a winter coat or other needed clothing that they might not be able to afford.

Elite training opportunities. Student-athletes have regular access to top-notch coaching, facilities and equipment. These resources typically cost Olympic athletes thousands of dollars per year.

Academic and support services. Student-athletes receive academic support, such as state-of-the-art technology and tutoring, and have access to athlete-focused academic advisors in addition to traditional academic advisors.

Healthy living. Student-athletes have access to cafeteria "training tables" on campus. In addition, some schools hire nutritionists and dieticians to work with student-athletes.

Medical care. The NCAA and its members set safety guidelines, playing and practice rules and standards to minimize risks and provide student-athletes with the opportunity to perform their best both on and off the field. Student-athletes also have access to some of the top physicians and trainers in the world.

Medical insurance. The NCAA funds an insurance policy covering all student-athletes who experience catastrophic injuries while playing or practicing their sports – providing up to $20 million in lifetime insurance benefits for medical expenses and other special needs.

Exposure and experiences. Student-athletes have the opportunity to travel across the country and around the world for regular-season contests, NCAA championships and foreign tours. These experiences can open doors for the less than two percent who will compete professionally – but also for the majority who will go pro in something other than sports.

Preparation for life. Increasingly, the business world is focusing on creating a team environment with employees. By competing in college sports, student-athletes learn important skills such as leadership, time management and how to work effectively with others toward a common goal.

We gather today from different backgrounds and regions of the country to cheer for our favorite teams and celebrate our alma maters. But let's not forget why we're really cheering. College sports, our iconic and treasured American pastimes, are so much more than what you'll see in these championship events.

This year, more than 54,000 student-athletes will compete in an NCAA national championship and share with their teammates a unique sense of joy and accomplishment. But I've seen time and time again how the student-athletes who are succeeding at the highest level of sports competition are also achieving impressive academic success and giving back to their communities. One of them at the final site of this very championship will be honored as the sport's champion student because he or she holds the highest grade point average among the event's competitors. The Elite 89 award honors their achievement because it represents everything for which the NCAA stands.

Athletics plays an essential role in those accomplishments: student-athletes consistently tell me their love for their sport is what drives them to succeed. Ultimately, it's the success they experience not only on the field, but in the classroom and in life that makes these championships so meaningful. It's a chance for us all to stand and cheer on the next generation of leaders and innovators who will ultimately drive progress in our communities. It is why the commitment to higher education is a value we all share. And when we cheer for them at these events, we're really celebrating the hard work, determination and perseverance that helped them ace the test — in their sport and in their studies.

A lucky few will hoist a trophy in the air when events like this one are finished, and they will hear the cheers of their elated fans. Just remember that along the path to those 89 moments, more than 19,000 teams will share in a meaningful journey they will carry with them for the rest of their lives.

I'm glad you're here to celebrate one of those moments of student-athlete success. Enjoy the championship.

The Value of College Sports

Nearly 1,100 colleges and universities collectively invest in the experiences of student-athletes. Each year, more than 460,000 NCAA student-athletes gain skills to succeed on the field, in the classroom and for life.

Graduating from college is as important as winning on the playing field.

More than eight out of 10 student-athletes will earn bachelor's degrees.

Graduation rates for student-athletes as a group are higher than for their peers in the student body.

NCAA sports give young people opportunities to learn, compete and succeed.

NCAA schools award more than $2.7 billion in athletic scholarships every year to more than 150,000 student-athletes.

More men and women are competing in college sports than ever before.

The NCAA promotes the well-being of student-athletes.

The NCAA Student Assistance Fund has distributed more than $300 million during the past five years to help student-athletes with essential needs.

The NCAA's Sport Science Institute promotes safety, excellence and wellness in student-athletes, fostering life-long physical, mental and emotional development.
